BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1893.

STEPHENSPORT.

Mr. G. W. Payne is on the sick list at present.

S. H. Dix, of Robert's Bottom, is very ill at this writing.

Mr. M. Blain was thrown from a horse last Friday giving him a lame knee.

Prof. Owen Cunningham was able to resume his school again last Monday.

Miss Ada Hawks was home Saturday and Sunday from her school at Raymond.

Messrs. McPynire and Bert Cunningham, of Chemung, passed through our town Saturday.

Miss Will Lonnin, of Hardinsburg, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Smith.

Dr. White returned last week from the World's Fair. On the road he found plenty of "Mud."

Mr. Hewitt-Hawkins, wife and little daughter, Pauline, of Union Star, are paying their relatives a visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ferry, of Cloverport, are at home now with their parents. We are glad to have them in our midst again.

Miss Georgia Hawkins was in Louisville last week purchasing her fall hats. Call and see them before buying elsewhere.

Mrs. Sarah Bruner, accompanied by Miss Lizzie Cashman, of Union Star, spent the day with Mrs. James Biggs, Saturday.

We are sorry indeed to hear of our friend, Mr. Jas. Shellman, having two more of his family stricken with that dread disease, typhoid fever.

Quarterly meeting was held at this place Saturday and Sunday, conducted by Presiding Elder Allen. Excellent sermons and large attendance.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none is more pleasant than never sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chambersburg Cough Remedy cured her of crop, and in turn administers it to her own offspring and to others with the best results. For sale by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport, and Witt & Meador, Hardinsburg.

Missionary Meeting.
There will be a missionary meeting at the Tabernacle church, Wednesday, November 1st, 1893. Revs. W. E. Crooker, D. W. Herring, F. M. Royal and T. L. Blalock will be present. It will be their farewell meeting with this church before sailing for China. There will be a morning and afternoon session and all are invited to attend. We expect several other ministers besides those to be with us.

CONSTANTINE.

Farmers are almost done cutting tobacco.

Farmers are busy sowing wheat this week.

Our school is progressing nicely under the excellent management of Prof. Hall. Prof. Hall is both a clever gentleman and an able instructor.

Supt. Miller visited our school Thursday. His list of the pupils was brief and to the point. Mr. Miller likes to get to the point.

Mr. F. Mercer has been repairing his house which he is expecting to move soon. Everything from the water tank to the rat hole in the cellar fell a victim to lime and water.

BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1893.

The Lone Fisherman.

He's a lone' lazy fellow, as don't give to many kind o' blues, or about the growin' crop. But you see him makin' on the river bank, he sing, When he's afloat in the water, an' the bait is in the jug.

He stretches out an' gives a great of fealin' As a'wonder why the rest o' the world is alive. When they could be settin' there with him, With the fishes at the water, an' the bait still in the jug.

After he takes it up again, he keenly looks about; Then he comes right to him, an' pulls the corn cob stopper out. Then he shak'ns it up down, till he hears the corn. For the truth is, in the water, an' the bait is in the jug.

But when the sun's a-shinin', an' the katydids commence, His voice sounds like the track of an old, worn-out rail fence! For he's a mighty powerful boy, so it gets to be a tuck. When he's afloat in the water, but the bait's in the jug.

A Good Thing to Keep at Hand.

From the Troy (Kans) Chief.

Sounds a good idea, to have a very much subject to several species of cholera-morbus, and now when we feel any of the symptoms that usually proceed that ailment, such as sickness at the stomach, diarrhoea etc., we become weary. We have found Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the very thing to relieve it about. We are not writing this for a pay testimonial, but to let our readers know what is a good thing to keep handy in the house. For sale by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport, and Witt & Meador, Hardinsburg.

The Effect of Free Coinage.

We print elsewhere a communication from Mr. J. H. Etheridge, of Eden House, N. C., which touches on a very interesting subject, namely, the effect that the free coinage of silver would have on the price of products and the prices of the articles of consumption. In this place, our correspondent proceeds that the banks now have it in their power to congest the currency of the country in the money centers, and, naturally enough, he wants to know how the free and unlimited coining of silver would increase the per capita of circulation in the south and make a more uniform circulation.

In this way: The most of the mints are open to the free coining of silver that money would become a money stand and such as the Democratic platform demands for. The demand for silver will be at the market value of silver, and that is the value of the coin into the uncirculated metal, for no holder of bullion would accept a less price than the amount of legal tender money he could exchange it for at the mint. The currency basis of the country would be increased. In other words, if the coinage of silver in its old place in the monetary system would enable the government (or the banks) to double, with entire safety, the amount of paper currency now in circulation. That which we now have rests entirely on a gold basis, and that, as was shown in the recent exportation of gold, is not a safe basis.

It is a basis that is constantly increasing in value, as is shown in the fact that those who are compelled to go into the market to buy money to pay their debts find year by year, that $100 commands a larger amount of their produce. In 1873 it was equivalent to 100, debt-paying dollars with one hole in them. In 1893 he finds that he is compelled to bring three holes to market in order to buy 100 debt-paying dollars. Making due allowances for all other conditions and circumstances, he is compelled to conclude that the value of his labor has undergone a fall of 150 per cent or that the purchasing power of the debt-paying dollar, redeemable in gold, has increased 150 per cent.

As we have said, the gold basis is a narrow and a precarious one, and it is constantly growing narrower and more precarious, as the world grows, the demands of commerce are increasing and the increase of population. To restore silver to its old place as a money standard in this country will more than double the money basis and will enable us to more than double the volume of currency in circulation. That will be the first benefit of the new system.

Movements and Doings of People in Neighboring Towns.

when money is so plentiful that the greater part of it cannot be employed in special call loans, it will then seek investment in business and industrial enterprises which is now too good to waste still in the soil. The farmers will be able to get remunerative prices for their crops. We may recur to this subject again, but our correspondent can carry out this line of reasoning for himself.—Atlanta Constitution.

Dr. Hale's Household Ointment.

The finest remedy in the world. It absolutely cures catarrh. It cures Neuralgia and Rheumatism. Cures Piles like magic. Cures salt rheum in the moist sooty manner. Cures inflamed and Granulated Eyelids. Cures Coughs and Cold. Cures Ulcers.

When he takes it up again, he keenly looks about; Then he comes right to him, an' pulls the corn cob stopper out. Then he shak'ns it up down, till he hears the corn. For the truth is, in the water, an' the bait is in the jug.

He stretches out an' gives a great of feelin' As a'wonder why the rest o' the world is alive. When they could be settin' there with him, With the fishes at the water, an' the bait still in the jug.

When the sun's a-shinin', an' the katydids commence,

His voice sounds like the track of an old, worn-out rail fence!

For he's a mighty powerful boy, so it gets to be a tuck.

When he's afloat in the water, but the bait's in the jug.

Getting Toned Up.

There was a fakir with an electrical machine on wheels in the public square at Chattanooga. Any one wanting his system toned up had only to hand him a nickel and grasp the handles attached to the machine, and in a few moments he was as slick as an old dark complexioned man and wife—came along and paused to see and hear. After three or four minutes the husband turned and said:

"Linda, I've giv'ne to my system ton' up."

"Shoo, now, Mose! Don't you do go fo' good, Linda! You shock you the mid of next week!" You're too ole to take chance Mose!"

"I'm feelin' power'ful bad just now, Linda. Reckon it might take dat feelin' gone away."

"You a tellin' yo' not to fool wid dat masehen, Mose?" she vigorously replied.

"Mebe it's good fo' de system, an' I'm goin' to shock you the mid of next week."

"You system all right."

"I'm feelin' power'ful bad just now, Linda. Reckon it might take dat feelin' gone away."
